Between childhood security and adult responsibility lies a wide gap. Between unquestioned faith and self-sought truth lies still a wider gap. The years that make up this gap seem long and lonely, but they can be fruitfully filled. Between these two sides of life lies a pathway; a pathway filled with joyous memories and recollections. Together with these memories, this pathway carries with it experience, friendship, and knowledge. This pathway bears a name—Shortridge.

Shortridge is an educational pathway to learning. It is a social pathway to understanding through personal contact with various ethnic and religious groups. It gives birth to one's hidden qualities through participation as a member of a growing and searching society. This institution of brick and concrete is itself a pathway to ourselves, to finding a direction to later life with the guidance of administration and faculty. In the coming pages, we will travel down that path, revisiting activities, special events, and daily routines. We will travel through Shortridge—PATHWAY TO THE FUTURE.

ROMPING IN THE SNOW provides a healthy and exhilarating outlet for stored up energy.

Educational

Although Shortridge possesses primarily an educational atmosphere, the surrounding feelings vary with the student and activity changes. A heterogeneous atmosphere prevails as both freshmen and seniors enter the first day. Small and insecure, the freshman becomes the victim of the entanglement of anxiety and excitement as he enters a totally new environment. In contrast, the senior walks proudly—proudly because he has finally become a member of that elite group. He has achieved the position for which he has strived for three years.

Emotionally, electricity surges through the student body as they cheer wildly for their team and their coach.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS add the finishing touches of tinsel and bells to the cafeteria Christmas tree.

Atmosphere Varies With Student, Activity

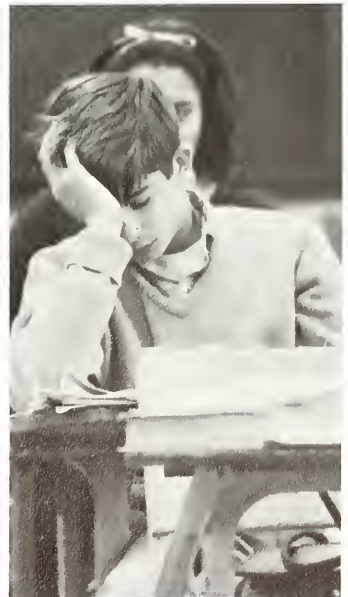

EACH DAY BEGINS by unfolding the "Stars and Stripes" that waves over Shortridge.

Faces Reflect Acts, Emotions of Students

A FAMILIAR FACE, Richard Wood daily stands before his Biology classes as do the many other members of the faculty.

Just as a mirror reflects a person's image, his face reflects his emotions and thoughts. It has often been said that a picture is worth a thousand words. The same theory can be applied to the human face, for no words can ever relate the disappointment and sadness exhibited by tears streaming down the face of a girl whose team has lost.

A dedicated scholar does not smile when he performs an experiment, but his eyes glow with the joy of learning. A flashing smile belongs to a winning Vaudeville act chairman. A closed mouth, blank eyes belong to a loser. Red, half-closed eyes characterize a student who attempts to cram six weeks learning into one night.

THE SMILES OF VICTORY shine on the faces of Shortridge boys as they prepare to burn opponents in an outdoor bonfire.

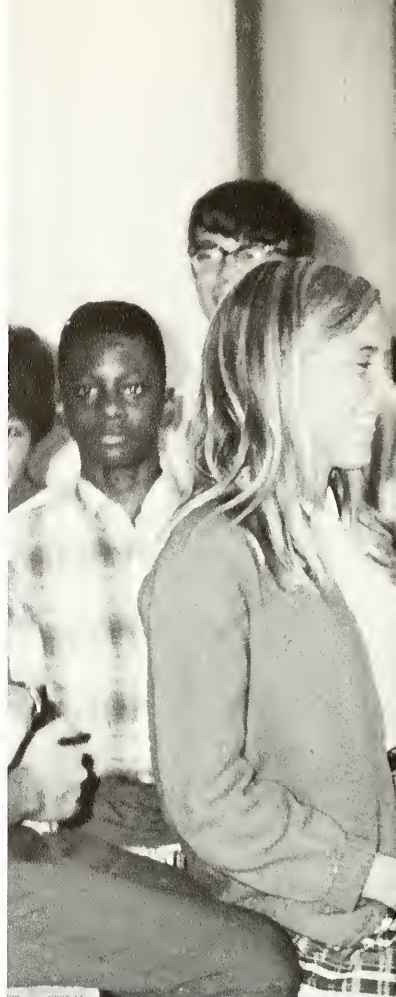

EVEN REPORT CARDS can bring smiles.

BIG BROTHERS AND SISTERS GET ACQUAINTED and work out problems with their Little Brothers and Sisters as they drink Cakes.

Now in its third year, the Big Brother-Big Sister program continues its efforts to "help the freshman become more quickly and easily oriented to the Shortridge way of life." The program was organized so that each of this year's 115 big-brothers and big-sisters has from two to five little brothers and sisters under his wing. The three student coordinators, Jennie Lowe, Alfred Edyvean, and Arniece Russell, under the supervision of Thomas Preble, faculty adviser, assigned the families. By bringing the participants of the program together at the welcoming tea and several Cake parties throughout the year, the coordinators hope to start a relationship which will develop into a big family—the Shortridge family.

The American Field Service sponsors a program of exchange students to promote understanding among people. While attending Shortridge, Felipe Caicedo from Cali, Colombia, is living with the Nolans.

Big Brother-Sister Program Continues

LITTLE BROTHERS AND SISTERS LINE UP for refreshments at an after-school Cake party.

The life of a pupil is anything but tranquil and quiet. It is a time of awakening.

One is on his own. No teachers to force preparation or award lollipops for success.

Shortridge has taught high school students to comprehend, to understand, and to associate ideas. We have learned the satisfaction of achieving our own academic goals.

Teachers and counselors have joined together to help us broaden our horizons. The administration has helped us through the development of new courses such as Russian.

Regardless of our personal tastes and attributes, we have learned the value of understanding new ideas and new knowledge. With this, Shortridge has become a pathway leading toward better education and more fulfilled lives—A PATHWAY TO SUCCESS THROUGH EDUCATION.

Lit Ranges From Shakespeare to Shaw

BUSILY STUDYING for their English V test, the members of Mrs. Hillman's class receive pointers.

This year the English Department, headed by Miss Jean Wells, selected four students to represent Shortridge in the National Council of Teachers of English competition. These students demonstrated their ability to write in a contest sponsored by the department. Then they took tests for the national competition.

All pupils interested in writing found the opportunity to express themselves in their English classes. The sophomores wrote vocational themes while the juniors wrote term papers. However, the seniors managed to do the most writing. In their composition classes, they wrote journals, precis, and criticisms, turning in two or three a week. They also did term papers emphasizing original thoughts and ideas. In literature classes, works ranging from those of Shakespeare to Shaw were read.

The department offered a well-rounded program, emphasizing literature as well as creative writing. Classes read books such as Beowulf and The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin. Oral recitations of passages helped to personalize the books for the students.

WHILE IMPROVING THEIR READING HABITS, Robert Young, Helen Lingeman, and Sue Michels enjoy novels in Developmental Reading.

Russian Added as Language Course

Taking a seat next to German, Latin, French, Spanish, Greek, and Derivatives, Russian became the seventh member of the Language Department tongue team. The course is taught by a native Russian, Mr. Adalbert Sorenson.

Students in their third year of French, German, Latin, or Spanish are encouraged to try for the Indiana University Honors Program. Through this program, pupils have the opportunity to study their language in France, Germany, Rome, and Mexico. Last summer, Shortridge sent two students to Germany, two to France, and one to Rome through this program.

In French and German, it is possible to carry out five years of study. Upon completion of the advanced courses, many of the students took advanced placement tests and received college credit for their study.

In addition to regular courses, Andrew Ramsey taught a non-credit Portugese class once a week after school.

Grapefruits to Viet Nam Investigated

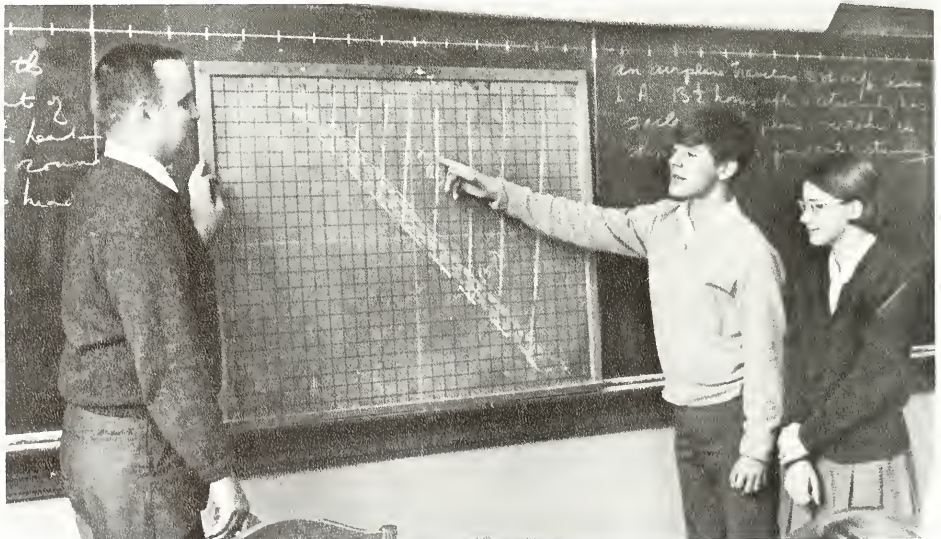

Headed by Thomas Payne, the History Department guides the student body to a better understanding of the world today. This understanding is achieved through regular daily work, supplemented by special speakers for classes and auditorium presentations. Performing its part for the school, the department helps the Exercise in Knowledge team prepare for its matches and sponsors the Lilly Endowment Scholarship Program. Seeking methods to improve its curriculum, the History department revised present courses to incorporate up-to-date materials and techniques including transforming grapefruits into globes, rewriting the Constitution, visiting the Harrison home, and taking polls on topics from Viet Nam to elections.

Tutoring Program Assists Troubled Math Students

NIKKI SHAW VIES for extra points by putting her geometry proof on the board.

While teaching classes in anything from general math to calculus, the teachers of the Shortridge Math Department employed new methods and devices to help in instruction. The drudgery of explaining problems on the blackboard was eliminated by using the new overhead projectors. A problem can be solved on a clear plastic sheet and is projected on a screen for the entire class at the same time.

The mathematics tutoring program was a great help in aiding troubled students. Advanced math students gave up lunch and study periods to explain theory and applications in a manner that teachers could never have done in a class of more than twenty-five students.

Robert Black Heads New Department

Reorganized to produce more efficient instruction in all the sciences, the Physical Science Department and Biology Department this year combined into one department headed by Robert L. Black. Advanced Biology pupils mated fruit flies to examine the genetic changes of generations of offspring, while other pupils literally "dug" into their fetal pigs. More projectuals, including vivid drawings of cell mitosis and meiosis, were added to the library of transparencies for the new overhead projectors. The Physics division of the department received new sets of books and new instruments. Physics students learned to operate the refraction plate for the ripple tank as well as an exploder to study the momentum changes in an explosion.

VIOLIN IN HAND, John Medjeski makes the fourth in a string quartet.

Groups Seek Perfection, Showmanship

Shortridge students are offered many different choices in which to express their musical talents and interests.

The orchestra, directed by John Medjeski, spends long, hard hours devoted to the learning of music such as "The Messiah." The band, directed by Leonard Behling, performed at such functions as the Sweatermen's concert and Junior Vaudeville.

Music Men, twenty-seven male voices, instills rhythm in the spectators.

As the counterpart to Music Men, Girls' Ensemble adds to the audience's enjoyment by presenting a choreography reflecting the moods of the song.

Art Students' Creativeness Challenged

The Art Department strives to extend a student's perception of art, to increase his art vocabulary, to develop his artistic abilities, and to awaken his creativity and originality. Courses in art, craft arts, and commercial art, as well as art appreciation for seniors are available. Putting their talents to practical work as they learn, art students produce articles ranging from back drops to posters for the Family Frolic. Many school publications also benefit; art students design covers for the Christmas Echo and for the Junior Vaudeville Program.

Competition with students of other schools as well as that between Shortridge students is encouraged.

MRS. ERNESTINE MCCREE DISPLAYS delicate pieces of ceramics for class.

Pupils Learn New Methods in Business

As students enter the fast-paced and diversified field of business, they carry with them a firm and knowledgeable background. The establishment and development of this background is the purpose of the Shortridge Business Department. Ever growing and expanding to meet the demands of today's commercial world, Shortridge offers necessary courses such as Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping, General Business, Business Law, Salesmanship, Business Arithmetic, Business English, and Office Production. Students in Office Production classes play an active role in typing and mimeographing the notices and bulletins that help our school to operate efficiently.

BORDERED BY TYPEWRITERS, the Typing I student competes in speed with his neighbor.

Coordination Stressed; Students Exercise, Play

"One, two, three, four, one, two, three, four" is probably what you will hear as you enter a physical education class. As girls slim down and develop their figures, boys concentrate on muscular development and coordination. By utilizing apparatus and participation in dances, relays and exercises, students derive enjoyment as well as fitness. Hard work, sportsmanship are given in exchange for physical fitness, good grades, and squad victories.

During the winter, skills such as rope climbing and tumbling are learned by the boys. Daily basketball practice supplements apparatus in the girls' gym. In the spring, the boys and girls abandon the gym for the outdoors as they participate in baseball, kickball, and track.

ROTC Excels in Scholarship, Leadership

BAND MEMBERS TAKE a breather after strenuous rehearsal.

Self-improvement and a sense of responsibility, coupled with a basic knowledge of military life, are the goals of the Reserve Officer Training Corps. Under the leadership of Master Sergeant Jerome Baker, ROTC cadets are taught citizenship and develop leadership traits.

In addition the cadets study marksmanship, first aid, courtesy and customs of the army, and rules and regulations. Advanced classes concentrate on small unit tactics, map reading, and warfare.

Besides military studies, ROTC participants maintained such traditions as standing guard at the Open House, Family Frolic, Junior Vaudeville, and Senior Class Play as well as taking part in the Veterans' Day Parade and the Federal Inspection and having their Military Ball.

Pins, Pans, Saws Build Useful Skills

Covered with sawdust, a boy emerges from the woodworking shop beaming with pride. The project may not always be perfect, but there is a lot of satisfaction in knowing that he built it himself.

Amid tantalizing odors, pin cushions, and thread, the girls in Home Economics learn skills that will be helpful to them later in life. In the spring, the sewing classes sponsored a fashion show.

Sweating palms grip the steering wheel as the instructor gives the Driver Education pupil the OK for the first turn of the wheel. The butterflies are soon sedated, and the students learn the basic driving skills. Testing of reaction time, peripheral vision, and other essential abilities is done in class to prepare the student for the road.

STEADY HANDS guide the chisel in quality craftsmanship.

Shortridge is more than an institution in which one studies. Shortridge has long endeavored to enrich the spirit as well as to educate the mind. To accomplish this, she provides many extra-curricular activities.

Students may join clubs related to their special academic interests, whether it be languages or biology; they may join hobby clubs such as the Chess Club; or they may seek membership in an organization for no other reason than to expand their interests.

Activities provide common experience for pupils of different backgrounds, proving that no matter what differences occur in people, they all seek the same basic goals. Activities, whether they require skill, knowledge, talent, or interest, form a pathway—A PATHWAY TO FRIENDSHIP through association.

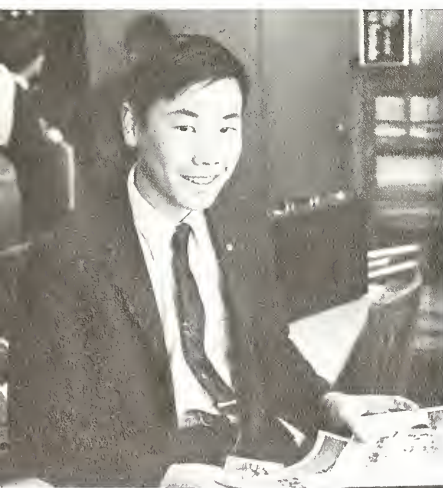

Continuous Work Forms Chronicle

Busy typewriters, clusters of triplicate copy sheets and mounds of photographs characterized the daily routine of the Annual office. Situated in a corner of the Echo office, the tiny cubbyhole was constantly filled with people, ranging from those inquiring about senior pictures to the Editor, Esther Eisman, and the new Advisor, Mrs. Beverly Koepper.

Sacrificing vacations and sleep, Annual staffers gathered in the editor's home to complete unfinished work necessary for the fast-approaching deadline. From the masses of confusion that abounded, an organized chronicle of the school year was born—the 1968 Annual.

Echo Staffs Acknowledge 70th Year

Deadlines, deadlines, deadlines—mark the continuous pace of the busy journalism room 124 where editors and reporters assiduously produce each day's Echo under the supervision of Miss Jean Grubb, advisor. Echoites also write for the Teen supplements of the Indianapolis Star and News.

The first special issue of the Echo this year was the edition observing the Echo's 70th year of publication. The colorful Family Frolic edition featured the main money-making project of the P.T.A. In May, the Shortridge Day issue depicted Shortridge's past and present achievements and challenges for the future. Honoring the seniors for academic achievements was the Awards' Day Edition of the Echo.

Fluency in a language is only one of the rewards a language student receives. A student may also become a member of a language club. These clubs stimulate interest in the various countries and make the learning of the language more exciting.

German Club had its annual booth at the Family Frolic, in which they served pretzels and soft drinks. Throughout the year, they had parties and occasionally went to a German movie. The Indiana University Honor students gave talks and showed slides of their respective experiences in Germany this past summer.

The Spanish Club started the year off with a dinner in honor of AFS student, Felipe Caicedo. Felipe gave a talk and showed slides of his native Colombia.

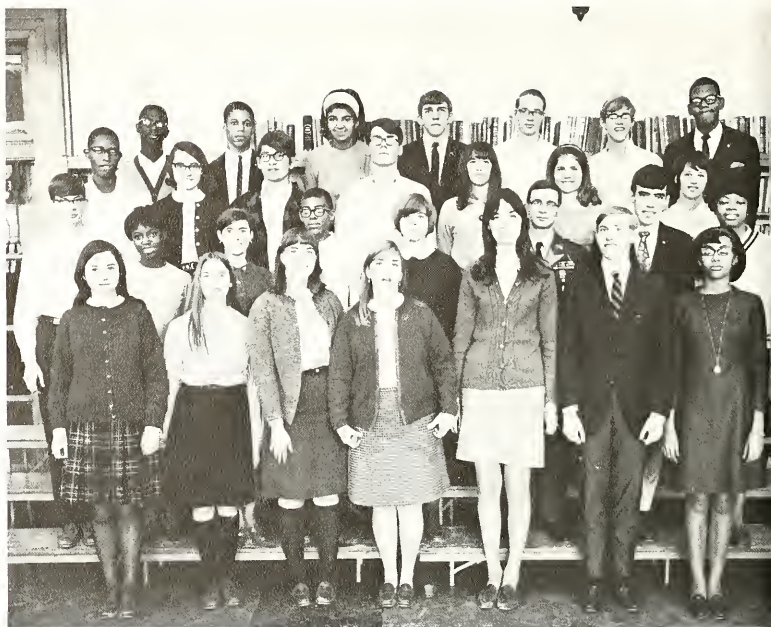

Latin Club is open to pupils of the Latin, Greek, and Derivatives classes. Members may also join the Junior Classical League sponsored by the American Classical League. Among the speakers this year was Dr. Roland Usher.

Great Books Discusses "Billy Budd"

Formed to promote student interest in books and to improve methods of interpretation and analyzation of literature, Great Books Club is divided into two sections: Freshman-Sophomore Great Books and Junior-Senior Great Books.

This year the juniors and seniors experimented with a new idea—meetings in the homes of members. College professors and parents led the discussions. This proved successful for the members had more time for analyzation and were exposed to the methods and ideas of different people.

For their first meeting, juniors and seniors read "Turn of the Screw." After Thanksgiving, a member of an adult Great Books group led the discussion of Herman Melville's "Billy Budd."

Honoraries Encourage Good Writing

Pupils excelling in creative writing and journalism have the choice of two honorary clubs. Quill and Scroll is an international honorary society for high school journalists and has planned projects for each month. Eligibility is determined by class rank, publications work, and a recommendation from the journalism director. The annual sale of chrysanthemums on Homecoming and the fall and spring initiating were the highlights of the year.

Fiction Club provides practice for writing impromptu essays. During meetings, members submitted original works.

"SOMEBODY HASN'T PAID HIS DUES," notices Quill and Scroll President Steve Harwitz.

Greasepaint and Scripts Join Forces

Footlights, Shortridge's drama club, enables any interested student to learn various aspects of the theater. This year speakers talked to the club about make-up, lighting, and acting.

In the annual Christmas Play and the All-School Play, members put their knowledge of stage arts into practical application. Members also participated in the Frolic musical in behind-the-scenes capacities.

Underclassmen who participate in Footlights may become members of the National Thespian Society. Membership in Thespians is earned by 100 hours of work in stage productions, on make-up, or on public relations committees.

A tour of Bell Telephone facilities highlighted this year's Radio Club activities. The club's purpose, to help members receive an operators or novice license for a ham radio set, was promoted by discussions of the function of different radios and experiments with radio design.

Serving the Indianapolis Public Schools, WIAN broadcasts each week-day during the school year. Although the primary purpose of WIAN is to serve grade school students, daily operations and special Friday night broadcasts enabled twenty-three Shortridge students to gain experience in radio production.

Football and basketball games, including sectional, regional, and semi-state tournaments, are covered by the city-wide WIAN sports staff. Eleven news staffers help write and produce news specials as well as present the regular 15-minute newscasts. For the first time, the news and staffs joined in producing "Final Edition," a Friday night wrap-up of news, sports, and weather.

Homecoming Sponsored by Council

Because of the connotation of a small group of people that Student Board gave, this year's officers re-named the representative organization of the school Student Council. Under co-sponsors Tom Henderson and Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, representation became more meaningful as council members reported to their English classes after each meeting.

Student Council committees planned Homecoming Activities. The Homecoming Dance was the most successful held in the past few years, according to Treasurer Jim Robinson.

Members attempted new programs emphasizing more involvement in school affairs. Committees suggested changes in auditorium programs and evaluated the effectiveness of the Student Council.

MEMBERS OF STUDENT COUNCIL energetically discuss Homecoming plans.

HRC Holds County-Wide Conference

HRC OFFICERS—Row 1: Richard Barmon (Treas.), Jennie Lowe (Pres.), Charles Temple (V. Pres.), Donna Pinckney (Sec.).

Highlighting the Human Relations Council's year of activities was the annual county-wide conference entitled "Youth and the Inner City." Speakers, panel discussions, and group discussions were featured at the spring event. The assistance program at Flanner House was continued as was an effort to create interest in establishing similar councils at other schools.

Films were shown once a month to encourage and stimulate individual thinking. As a result of these films and discussions that followed, pupils were able to comprehend problems dealing not only with large spans of people, but also individual tensions that result. Rounding out the council's activities were monthly service projects.

Candy Sale, Competition Encouraged

Speeches by city business leaders, films, field trips, and machine demonstrations are the various activities of Future Business Leaders of America. As a money-making project, FBFA sold an assortment of candy. Fun, competition, and prizes encouraged members to sell the candy.

Future Teachers of America is designed to create a growth of interest in the teaching profession. FTA also offers an opportunity for one to practice teaching in one of the public grade schools.

During the meetings, members received advice and information through panel discussions, speakers, student teachers, and college professors.

Y-Teens Hold "Psychedelic" Dance

Y-TEENS PAINT signs for their "Psychedelic Phantasmagoria".

After-school volleyball games, swimming parties, candy sales, conventions, and group discussions are typical of the activities of the Y-Teens, sponsored by Mrs. Louise Ridley.

The Y-Teens is affiliated with the YWCA and serves as a world-wide club. The main goal of the girls is to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities.

This year the club held a Christmas party for which admission was a toy for underprivileged children.

"Psychedelic Phantasmagoria" was the theme of the annual dance. Decorations and bands such as the "Peppermint Applebush" and the "Expressions" helped to carry out this theme.

Muddy shoes, sore limbs, and sleepy eyes identify the members of the Shortridge Naturalist Club. Twice a month, the Naturalists arise before dawn to board the Shortridge bus for a day of hiking, singing, and football playing somewhere in the great out-of-doors. Always prepared to carry on despite unfavorable conditions, the members invaded such places as Clifty Falls and Jasper Pulaski.

For their Thanksgiving dinner, the club selected Spring Mill State Park as the location. Hiking and spelunking built enormous appetites. The order and cleanliness of civilization were forgotten as the turkeys were torn apart by the members and then washed down with generous amounts of cider.

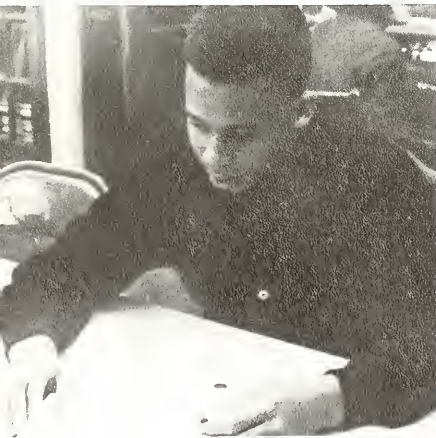

Numismatists Enjoy Coin Peculiarities

Sponsored by Ronald Freeland, the purpose of the Coin Club is to bring together students who wish to exchange and discuss coins. Occasionally guest speakers are invited to discuss the techniques of numismatics. Members are often puzzled as to which coins are valuable and which could be profitable to find. They receive information concerning coins from special books found in the library or booklets from specialized agencies.

Meetings are held on Monday afternoons and provide the opportunity for students to work together to complete their collections. Much time is spent examining coins to check age and mint.

Order of the Straightedge is an honorary club open to qualified juniors and seniors with talent in technical drawing and industrial skills. Eligibility for special honors as a club member is determined by placement on the technical drawing contest held by the Industrial Arts Department. Service groups of club members assist in Shortridge Day and Family Frolic preparations. For fun, club members hold table tennis contests and picnics.

Service to the school is the main objective of the Scout Emergency Patrol and Club. Service projects included the Mystery House for the Family Frolic and the bonfire to celebrate our winning football season. Not stopping with school, SEPAC donated gifts to Flanner House for needy children.

Noble School Receives Aid of Key Club

Introducing a new service project, Key Club worked at Noble School for Retarded Children. They did maintenance, aided instructors, and taught the children such basic skills as manipulating a fork. During the summer, junior and senior boys worked at the school everyday, including Saturdays.

For their traditional money-making project, the club sold candy bars to provide funds for the annual athletic awards banquet. They also sponsored an auditorium featuring Rev. Reed Stewart.

This year new members were initiated in the spring so that they could participate in the summer service projects.

Girls Beat Key Club's Ticket Sales

The female's answer to Key Club, Girls' League engages in service projects throughout the school. In order to set the freshmen girls at ease and to stimulate interest in school activities, the club held a welcoming party and entertained with music by the Girls' Ensemble.

This year, the girls tromped over Key Club in the annual Frolic ticket sales campaign.

To keep track of lost articles and to carry out special jobs that occasionally arise is the purpose of True Blue. True Blue members work every period in the office of Mrs. Eugenia Hayden, the Dean of Girls.

After School Spent At Chess, Filing

Strategy, perceptiveness, and imagination are the elements that characterize a winning team. The Chess Club, sponsored by Charles Thomas and Hoover Baker, placed eighth in the State Chess Tournament. With more than twenty members, the club held tournaments among themselves to provide stimulating entertainment and to improve the basic techniques of the game. Top players challenged Arlington, Warren Central, and Tech for additional experience.

Members of the Library Club gave up free periods and time after school so that other students could use the library. They assist the librarians by serving at the check-out desk, typing, and running miscellaneous errands.

Red Cross Distributes Decorations

The Red Cross Club is an organization that serves local hospitals and rest homes as well as the National Red Cross. This year their projects included packets for the annual Red Cross Drive and making Christmas center pieces for local distribution. Money from the drive was used to send a chest containing useful items to needy people overseas.

Up the Down Staircase, Crime and Punishment, and Quo Vadis were a few of the well-known novels discussed by the Campus Book Club. The CBC provides an opportunity for the members to expose themselves to books that are not discussed in the classroom.

Rapid Recall Stimulates Intellectuals

The Exercise in Knowledge program is the Indiana intellectual's answer to basketball. High school teams practice avidly for weeks and finally meet in a game of factual knowledge and rapid thinking. The student body supports the team by providing questions concerning various aspects of education. Although Exercise in Knowledge's season is not as long as basketball's, just as much excitement pervades the air as the teams struggle for the city championship.

HISTORY CLUB MEMBERS PAT NOLAN, ASHER BENRUBI, BETSY STREETER and Ellie Bookwalter gather research for their required papers.

One of Shortridge's oldest and best-established clubs is the History Club. As an honorary club, it requires that certain standards be met before a student is accepted for membership. Each prospective member must write an outline on some historical topic. This outline is judged by the officers and the sponsor, Mrs. Elsie Howard. If the student is accepted, he undergoes first a serious initiation and later a humorous one, in which he must perform a stunt tailored especially to his character by the older members. The stunts are performed at the fall Bridey Murphy party, an extravaganza of bright costumes and witty caricatures.

Not all the activities of the club are so merry. Throughout the year the members meet twice a month for speakers, discussions, and other serious entertainment. In this way, the members carry out their interest in history and current events. This year, Jerry Hankins of the History Department discussed the Battle of Tippecanoe. Trips included a visit to an Indiana culture museum.

This year, the officers gained more than their share of honors. Cadet-Colonel Paul Hutton received the appointment of brigade commander of the Indianapolis ROTC units. Lieutenant-Colonel Stephen Horwitz, battalion commander, was awarded the Legion of Valor Bronze Cross in recognition of his scholastic excellence. In addition, both the rifle team and drill team placed members on the all-city teams.

Five girls made the group of ROTC sponsors. Each week, the girls participated in the inspecting of cadets. The sponsors also took part in drill and rifle team meets.

Classics Stressed by Choir, Madrigal

DILIGENT STUDY AND PRACTICE PERFECT the Madrigal sound.

Classical music is as much a part of the Music Department as is popular music. For those qualified and interested in singing the classics, membership in either A Cappella or Madrigals is available.

Directed by Thomas Preble, A Cappella is composed of one hundred boys and girls. Early in the semester, the choir began having practice sessions before school to prepare for the Christmas program and the annual Choral Classic. Selections from the "Messiah" were presented to the school at the Christmas auditorium. The works chosen for the Choral Classic were the "Cycle" and "Sacred Service."

Sixteenth and seventeenth century European music is sung by the fifteen voice Madrigals. Under the supervision of a new director, James Kantarze, the small ensemble presented over twenty programs during the Christmas season. This year, a change in dress, formal gowns, was instigated. "O Magnum Mysterium" was among the works presented.

Class of '69 Presents Four-Act Musical

Secret agents, corporation executives, and hippies joined love-struck teenagers on the stage of Caleb Mills Hall for the 1968 version of Junior Vaudeville. This year's chairman, Virginia Johnson, chose the theme "Vaudeville a la mod," describing its ever-changing personality — ever-changing in the sense that the show will always be "in the style."

A dozen boys and girls singing to the tune of "Georgy Girl" opened the show. "Rescue Rendezvous"'s secret agent VO6 braved the modern technology of the R.O.T.N. to aid his comrades. "Cornfounded Confusion" related the organization of the business world to its attempts to produce faster and better methods of production. "Whatever Happened to Otie Kyotie" concerned the thoughts and actions of an escapee from an insane asylum, while chaos resulting from computerized dates provided hilarious scenes in "Little Man, Windy Wants You."

Casino Room New Aspect for Frolic

Shortridge's hallowed halls rang with laughter and gaiety during the annual Family Frolic. The theme, "Guys and Dolls," was carried out throughout the school. While some persons tried their luck at games of chance and skill in the gym, which was known as the "Guys and Dolls Casino," others were entertained by the talent show. The show featured acts ranging from comedy to dancing. The Ratskeller depicted a German atmosphere in the checkered tablecloths and a small band that played German tunes. The auditorium show, "Guys and Dolls," was a shortened version of the musical, which was presented in its full length the following night. All of the hot dog eating, coke drinking fun seekers agreed that they had a good time.

Exchange Pupils Promote Friendship

Youth for Understanding, begun to promote understanding among men, is an exchange program which includes over 60 countries. It has two sessions: one which includes a summer abroad, and one which allows the student to attend the host school in the fall.

Two Shortridge students spent their summer vacations abroad on this program. Sally Eberhard spent her summer in Finland, while Mary Leech traveled to Denmark. These girls lived with and became part of their host families.

During the 1968 spring semester, Mary Leech and her family "adopted" Raquel Weinstock from Buenos Aires, Argentina, who spent six months with the Leeches getting acquainted with our school system as well as our way of life.

HOMECOMING QUEEN
Becky Frazier

JAMBOREE QUEEN
Judy Schwomeyer

Her noteworthy background in skating and tumbling made Judy Schwomeyer a deserving candidate for Football Jamboree Queen. The night game at Howe provided a disappointing, but exhilarating beginning for the football season as Judy rooted for her team.

Five senior girls rode in the queen-candidate convertible in the Homecoming parade. The chilly wind did not prevent the girls from exhibiting their cheerfulness as they waved to the gathering crowd. At halftime, the Shortridge Marching Band formed a heart and played "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" in honor of the queen, Becky Frazier.

The mark of a superior individual or institution is well-roundedness. At Shortridge, one finds interest in both academics and athletics.

Many have expressed the fear that with the growing emphasis on academic success, there would be a corresponding loss in the athletic fitness program. This has been proven false.

Sports have become a focal point for the interests of all. Understanding of the abilities of others and ourselves is reached.

In the final minutes of a game, we forget our differences as we join together to celebrate our victory or to sympathize in our defeat.

Through the participation in sporting events and the team spirit derived from competition, we make athletics A PATHWAY TO PHYSICAL AND MENTAL HEALTH.

Receiving a Shortridge Letter sweater not only means an achievement in athletics but also a sense of responsibility to the school. Selling donuts four days out of the week for breakfast-skippers, helping out at football and basketball games and other athletic events, and helping at the Family Frolic were some of the services offered by this club. The Lettermen's Club also offered social events for its members as they planned to see an NFL football game, sponsored booster buses to away games of the basketball team, and an athletic dinner held at the end of the year for all those who participated in any sport.

The enthusiasm of a team is directly proportional to the support it gets from the student body. To increase school spirit and to stimulate student interest in sports and games is the purpose of the cheerleaders. By holding pep sessions after school, the girls continued to boost our team to victory. Always full of pep and vigor, the cheerleaders started the year off with a barrage of cheers learned at cheerleader camp during the summer. The coordination of pep sessions and the decorating of the field were also placed in their hands.

DAY OR NIGHT, Satans find the right goal post.

Blue Devils Claim City Championship

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWDS fill bleachers as they cheer the Blue Devils to victory.

Setting their goals high and being in the prime of condition, the Shortridge football team set out to win the 1967 City Championship.

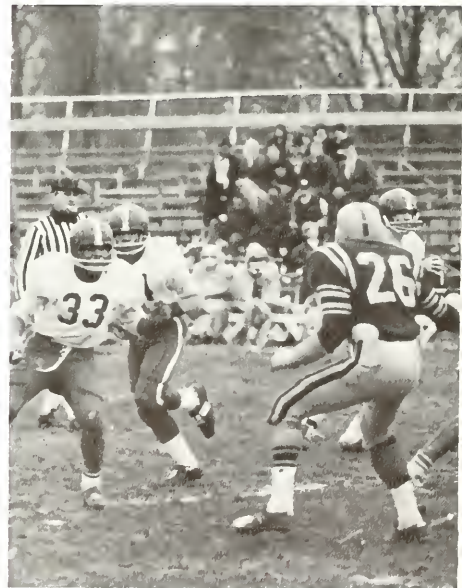

Suffering only two setbacks, Attucks and Brebeuf, the Blue Devils won their remaining games as they "knocked on Wood," 19-6, for Homecoming and beat Tech, 47-21, to lay a heavy claim to the City Championship. Although there was a dispute over the number one team in the city, Shortridge claimed the title by percentage total. As Coach Don Benbow says, "7-1 is better than 6-1 anytime!"

Junior scat-back Wayne Curley, the team's top man in scoring and rushing, led the entire city and tied the leading county scorer, as he rushed for over 1,347 yards and scored 98 points. Following Curley as leading team scorer were senior Harold Grundy, who scored 60 points and rushed for 900 yards, and fullback Fred Hill.

Culminating the near-perfect season, Tim Huxhold and Wayne Curley were named to the All-City Football Team, while Dwight Pickins, Fred Hill, Fred Powell, and James Gardner received honorable mentions.

Team Show Potentiality, Say Coaches

Excitement and fun describe the reserve football team as they turned in a 6-3 record. According to Coach Robert Wood, "The team was outstanding and many of the boys will help make next year's varsity squad."

Racking up a 5-3-1 record, the freshmen were not quite as successful as the reserves. However, considering the small turnout of boys, Coach Joe Tofil thought it to be a very successful season. He further stated that many of the boys would be a great asset to the reserve and varsity teams.

Homecoming Celebration a Success

Floats, pep sessions, a police-escorted parade, and an exciting, brisk game, set the scene for the Shortridge Homecoming. Shortridge's "mighty" Blue Devils rolled over Wood by a score 19 to 6.

Introducing the halftime activities, the Shortridge Marching Band played "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" as they took the shape of a large heart. Queen and princess candidates were driven onto the field as the band marched off. Principal Robert Shultz announced the winners: Becky Frazier, Homecoming Queen; Anna Bennett, junior princess; Carrian Singleteary, sophomore princess; and Sandra Bently, freshman princess. Prize-winning floats were announced and prizes were awarded.

That night, in the gym, students gathered to cap the day's festivities by dancing to the music of the Diplomats Band.

'Ridge Satans Take Sectional, Regional

Team effort, desire, speed, and skill enabled the 1968 Satan basketball team to capture four victory trophies and one runner-up trophy.

During Christmas vacation the Devils beat Goshen 76-67 to win the Goshen Tourney.

Returning home the Satan fourteen-game winning streak was halted by Washington in the semi-final round of the City tourney.

The team captured their second sectional crown as they trounced Chatard 82-43.

Using the new "Pizza" defense, the Satans struck revenge as they dumped Washington 72-60 to earn a spot in the "Sweet Sixteen."

The first game of the semi-state saw the Blue Devils battle Columbus 88-77 and then beat Richmond 81-58 to win their first semi-state crown.

During the opening game of the state finals, Shortridge had to press to defeat Marion 58-56, winning by Oscar Evans' last-second shot.

In the final game, Gary Roosevelt's height and the strain of the afternoon game took their toll. Coach Theo said, "My boy just ran out of gas," as "Ridge" lost 68-60 and came within one step of completing their goal.

Starting the season off with eight returning lettermen, the grapplers turned in a 5-3-2 dual meet record. They placed first in the Warren Central tourney and a close second in the Kokomo tourney.

Going into the city meet with one wrestler short, the Satans placed seven men in the final round and ended up with six city champs, a runner-up, and another city title; the fifth in ten years.

Attention now focused on the sectionals. Misfortune struck as three of Shortridge's varsity wrestlers were disqualified because of a technical ruling, thus dimming the chances of a second State title.

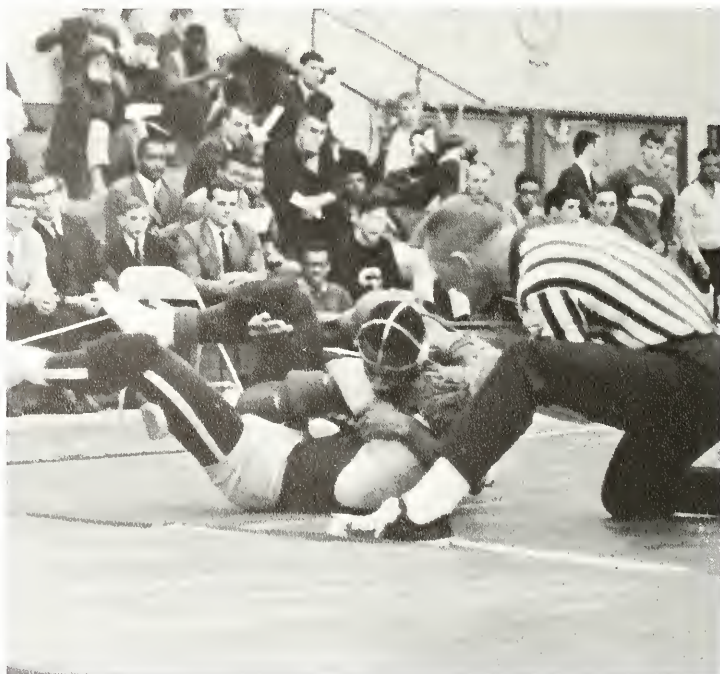

Going into the sectionals were eight wrestlers, the Satans grabbed third place. Three seemed to be the number again as they placed third in the regionals and Bill Coleman and James Gardner advanced into the State finals.

With both Coleman and Gardner placing second, Shortridge placed fourth in the State.

Cross Country Places Ninth in City

SHORTRIDGE HARRIERS READY for the upcoming race.

Filled with vigor and optimism, the Shortridge Cross Country team, led by Rookie Coach Jack Bowsman, rebuilt itself after last year's teamless sport. Starting late in the season, the harriers, according to Coach Bowsman, worked hard at conditioning, but lack of experience took its toll as the team placed low in many invitationals.

Kenny Randle, who placed first in all meets, paced the team as he turned in the fastest time of 10:31 for the two mile course. Other top runners on the team were Roy Patterson and James Johnson. Although there was a mix-up in the schedule, the team turned in a 1-1 dual meet record and placed ninth in city competition. Coach Bowsman said, "I was pleased with the results of the team as a whole, even though the season was rather disappointing."

Caudle Ties 220 Record, Goes State

Two new hands steered the 1967 track team into a new season. Rookie Coach Robert Wood guided the Satans to a 2-4 dual meet record and tenth place in the city meet. The bulk of the team was comprised of sophomores and juniors who placed third in the underclassmen relays at Franklin Central.

In the 220 yard dash Francis Caudle led the way as he tied the school record at 21.6 seconds. He was the only member of the team who qualified for the State Track Meet, where he ran in the 220 yard dash. Although he failed to place, he was named by Track Coach Robert Wood, as being one of Shorridge's finest trackmen.

Blue Devils End Season at Sectional

Concluding the diamondmen's even 9-9 season record were the sectional play-offs. In the opening game Shortridge trounced Broad Ripple 9-3 and went into the final game with city champ Arlington.

This was the end of the season for Shortridge as she lost 7-6 in four extra innings.

According to Coach Tom Harding, the outstanding players were Oscar Evans, Greg Allen, Marvin Tinsley, and Carl Life. Evans ended the season with the highest batting average of the season, a .465. In the pitching department, Levi Smith led the way with a 4-2 pitching record.

Near the end of the season, the batting department improved when Tinsley, Evans, and Allen each tagged home runs and consistently hit base hits in the sectional play-offs.

Spain, Rice Lead Respective Teams

Plagued by inexperience throughout the season, the teesters managed to place ninth in the city meet and twelfth in the sectionals.

Letterman Dave Spain had the lowest average of the season with a 38½. Spain also shot his way into the final rounds of the sectionals which he won. Colin McCance, along with Mike Gruver, shared honors with Spain as being the top three golfers of the team. Gruver also had the honor of throwing his golf club farther than he hit the ball.

Surprising and successful would describe the 1967 tennis team. Spearheaded by junior star Fred Rice, the racketmen turned in a 10-5 record and placed fifth in the city meet. The team also set a season high as they won eight matches in a row.

Fred Rice was rated as one of the best high school tennis players in the state. Bill Fatout was named the most outstanding reserve tennis player by Coach Ronald Freeland.

Students form the core of a diversified sphere that makes up Shortridge. In their hands lies the task of standing up to a challenge—the challenge of converting from a comprehensive school to a strictly academic institution.

The SHS freshman can be spotted by his amazement at all that happens. He is one who begins each day with wonder, not yet understanding the workings of the school in which he will spend four years of his life. The sophomore has experience behind him. In one year he has become somebody. He no longer looks on, but joins in the activities. The junior, for the first time, is a member of an organized class. He goes through his first election and attends his own Prom. The senior is a leader. It is up to him to show the others how to carry out the responsibilities of a Shortridge student. Working together the entire student body forms a pathway—A PATHWAY TO MATURITY.

SHS Faculty Encourages Originality

No school is better than the sum of the teachers that teach there. Shortridgers are lucky in the fact that we have a competent faculty which is willing to spend time with the student explaining the seemingly impossible.

Shortridge teachers give the fundamentals while trying to instill in the student a thirst for knowledge and the ability to reason with original ideas. They stress the creative ideas of pupils and encourage them to keep trying. They attempt to motivate pupils to continue their education.

As they attempt the task of educating today's youth, they show us the pathway to civic responsibility and participation.

IN MEMORIAM
Vincent Smith

A giant, handleless clock atop a tree of flowers exemplified the theme of the Junior Prom of the Class of '68—"The Twelfth of Never."

Colors abounded on tables decorated with orange, yellow, and turquoise flowers.

Co-Chairmen Vickie Bauer and Steve Isenberg beamed with pride at the culmination of long weeks of work as couples danced to the variety of music provided by the Larry Liggett Band.

Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Prom Queen Tommy Campbell. Following the ceremonies, Tommy and her escort led her court in dancing to "The Shadow of Your Smile".

JR. PROM CO-CHAIRMEN Vickie Bauer and Steve Isenberg spent long hours organizing and working on the annual junior event.

Officers, Council Plan Senior Activities

Corresponding to the Policy Committee of the Junior Class, Senior Council aided the officers in co-ordinating class functions. Consisting of thirty boys and girls, Council met in the Teacher's Cafeteria after school. Additional activities and duties included selecting Commencement announcements and the selection of the Annual dedicatee.

In the spring semester of each year, the senior class elects the officers for Class Day, an event characterized by the willing of gifts and a documentary of the senior class through its four years. The program in the auditorium was planned and managed by the elected Class Day Officers.

CLASS DAY OFFICERS—Row 1: Susie Stephens (Historian), Irmgarde Berzins (Prophet), Larry Dailey (Giftorian), Clarence Hudson (Willmaker).

Seniors Dedicate Annual to Miss Evans

Social events and money-making projects headed the agenda of Senior Class President Milton Dailey. Aided by Linda Counts (Vice President), Marsha Bryant (Secretary), and Stephen Scott (Treasurer), Milton was able to originate and carry out plans for the first Grad Dance sponsored by the Senior Class in recent years. Esther Eisman (Annual Editor) put in long hours in order to provide a detailed chronicle of the year.

Always ready to assist the officers and any senior was Mrs. Dorothy Otto, class sponsor. Mrs. Mary Siegal, financial advisor, worked closely with Stephen in formulating the budget and balancing the books.

Largely responsible for college applications and scholarship, Miss Elizabeth Evans became the recipient of the Annual dedication. Besides serving as college counselor, Miss Evans sponsored the National Honor Society.

EXCITED AND THOROUGHLY SURPRISED Annual dedicatee Miss Elizabeth Evans expresses her thanks to the senior class.

Year's End

SENIORS break bread together at pitch-in dinners before going to the next Shartridge football game.

TOURNEY TIME has Seniors Joe Chan and Ivon Solomon selling hats for their last high school sectional.

SENIOR DAVID DE FRANTZ spends many hours in the library studying for tests and the required SATs.

KEY CLUB MEMBERS spent many hours painting and fixing as part of their service project at Noble School.

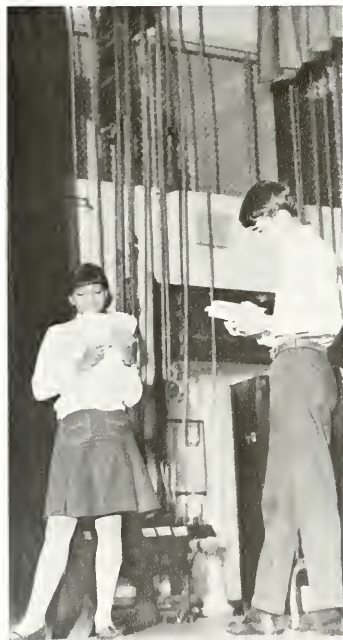

Brings Flood of Memories to Seniors

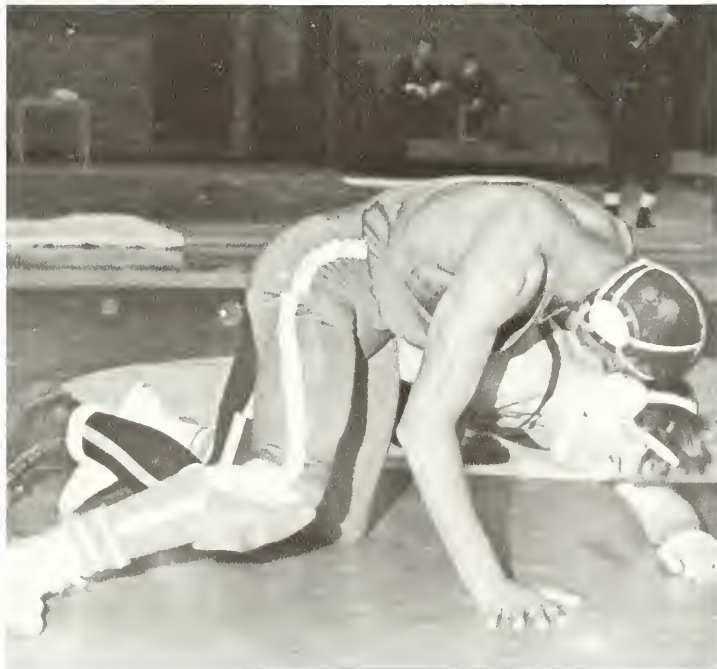

MORNING PEP SESSIONS gave sleepy seniors a chance to support their team and also gave them a chance to wake up.

A time comes when a senior realizes that he is leaving an important part of his life. Few things will be more important or more remembered than his high school career. As thought of commencement and of college or of a job govern his mind, the senior begins to reminisce about the last four years.

Remember the well-balanced meals at the pitch-in dinners? Remember the jittery nerves just before the first Junior Vaudeville performance? All are past. Fouled-up schedules of nine periods of study or of five periods of lunch are worries no longer. This is the last time for dodging class-bound students in Shortridge corridors. This is the end of his high school career.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY allowed aspiring actors and actresses to display their histrionic abilities.

SENIOR WRESTLER Bill Coleman downed his opponent to win a second place in the state tourney.

A high school education enables us to take an important role in today's society. One of the largest responsibilities of adulthood is the management of money.

Through the selling of ads for the Annual, we have learned to understand some of the intricacies of business. Also we have come to know the firms and the products they sell.

In today's world, teenagers spend millions of dollars per year. With such cash at our disposal, it remains our responsibility to become acquainted with our local businesses to gain, in addition to good products, an understanding of finances for our adult years.

Because of the part advertisement plays in presenting this yearbook and the subsequent products and knowledge they make available to so many, ads become—A PATHWAY TO FINANCIAL STABILITY.

Don't Lose The Wheels!

And we're not speaking of the kind parked outside your school or home. We mean the wheels of competition on which our country's system of free enterprise rides. It's your responsibility, as the leaders of tomorrow, to see that no wheels are lost from the American way of doing business. Best wishes to the Class of '68.

The year of 1968 was a year of renewed spirit and enthusiasm. The enthusiasm for learning ran high as students delved deeper into the mysteries of biology or into the questions of international relations.

Enrollment in advanced classes climbed as students supplemented required courses. Extracurricular clubs grouped interested students together as they combined fun with learning.

Away from the classroom, Shortridge students stood together as they cheered their team to victory and as they worked together toward a common goal. The spirit of helping initiated many service projects for the community. The spirit of understanding sponsored discussion groups and speakers to promote cooperation among all men. The year of 1968 has truly been A PATHWAY TO THE FUTURE.

We have tried to capture the meaning and the activities of the year 1968 in these few pages. As we complete the final pages, we would like to thank the many people who have worked and supported our effort: the Indianapolis News for a picture on Page 80, Bill Ehrich for Senior pictures, Mrs. Mary Siegel for financial advice, School Pictures Inc. for underclassmen pictures, a loyal and hardworking staff, Joseph Chan for the cover design, and Mr. Dick Kennard of Newsfoto Publishing Company. We would also like to thank the administration, the class of '68, and most of all the entire student body for making this year a memorable one.

Year's End Brings Joy, Tears, Hope

This year has ended. It was a year full of tears and laughter. For some of us it was our last year at Shortridge. For us it has taken on the nostalgia of a dream.

No longer shall we spend two hours in a counselor's line waiting to reach the door and, just as we reach it, have him leave. No longer shall we find ourselves debating over sociological topics at HRC meetings. No longer shall we rush frantically to meet the deadlines for the next edition of the Echo. No longer shall we long for an excuse to get out of reference. No more, no more, no more . . .

Ahead of us we have still another pathway, its branches taking us to points unknown in that vast forest of the unforeseen—life.
